

ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

To enable a user to efficiently recognize authenticity of a paper document, the content of a input electronic document is read by an OCR technique,
5 a hash value in regard to the read OCR result is stored as authenticity confirmation information on a server, and a URL indicating a position where the hash value has been stored is embedded in the electronic document by using a digital watermark.